Dear Bob:

The two books by Ralph M. Evans are: "An Introduction to Color", John Wiley and Sons, 1948 and "Eye, Film and Camera in Color Photography", Wiley, 1960. I am sending you under separate cover my copy of the second book. I assume you will want to buy these, but in the meantime you can use mine.

I would also recommend strongly the new book by Tom Cornsweet, "Visual Perception", Academic Press, 1970.

Most of these people are pretty highly oriented towards theory except for [redacted] who, of course, work for the government.

Best regards,

Sincerely,
